The teachers and some of the students attended the K. E. A. last week.

Dillard Hubbard spent his vacation with relatives in Winchester.

Eugene Spurlock spent the week-end with homefolks.

S. A. Mills spent Sunday in Cincinnati.

Dillard Hubbard was one of the members of the Carpathian quartet which rendered several selections in Carpetum Hall Monday night.

The Oxford Music Company was here April 15 and rendered a fine program.

The course in Rural Supervision which is being conducted by Prof. T. J. Coates and State Supervisor F. C. Bhatton is one of the best courses in school for the rural school teachers. The Knox county students are taking advantage of it, the following being enrolled in the class: C. A. Morris, S. T. Jarvis, Dillard Hubbard and Eugene Spurlock.

Knox County has had her most enterprising young teachers namely Dillard Hubbard and Eugene Spurlock who have accepted positions in the best public schools of Clark County near Winchester. It seems like the mountain people should employ and employ normal trained teachers for their schools and are entitled to their share of them as well as the Blue Grass.

Two distinguished Kentucky Farmer Chief Justice Edward O'Rear and Senator J. C. W. Beckham, addressed from the same platform a large crowd of enthusiastic people on the local subject, State-wide prohibition. It looks like there is going to be something done when men like these from both political parties "take the stump."

The music department under the direction of Miss Hagan, gave an interesting concert in camp Saturday night.

Evangelist Takes A Whack At Dancing In His Sermon Last Night

"If you make all the men and the women dance together, it would break up all the dancing in five minutes," said Evangelist Rogers last night at Central Christian church. He also said: "You get the very best hall and the very best orchestra and you find your husband go up there and dance together for one evening and I'll guarantee that he'll have a headache and have to take an aspirin tablet and go to bed before 10 o'clock."

"It isn't that he loves to dance, but he doesn't love some other man's wife."

"It is the sexual spirit and that only which rules the dance."

"Francis Willard and Eva Booth found that out of 500,000 fallen girls in our eastern cities, 375,000 of them testified with their own lips that they got their start on the ballroom floor."

"If you mothers would educate your girls a little more in the ball and not so much in the heels they would make better wives and mothers."
